Reflection

The Most Holy Body and Blood of Christ

Exodus 24: 3-8 Psalm 116: 12-13, 15-18 Hebrews 9: 11-15

Mark: 14- 12-16, 22-26

"How shall I make a return to the LORD for all the good he has done for me? The cup of salvation I will take up, and I will call upon the name of the LORD. (Psalm 116: 12-13)

Today we celebrate The Most Holy Body and Blood of Christ, or by its more traditional name, "Corpus Christi." Although our focus at each and every liturgy is the Eucharist, the celebration today reminds us just how central it is to our faith. What sets us apart in our belief is the fact that at the priest's words of consecration, the bread and wine is transformed into the body and blood of our Lord. The term transubstantiation is used to describe this mystery: we believe that Christ is physically present, even though to the senses, the Eucharist remains in the form of bread and wine.

The Eucharist is described in the Catechism of the Catholic Church as "the source and summit of the Christian Life." The word itself is taken from the Greek and means "thanksgiving." The Catechism further states: "The Eucharistic is the memorial of Christ's Passover, that is, of the work of salvation accomplished by the life, death and resurrection of Christ, a work made present by the liturgical action. It is Christ himself, the eternal high priest of the New Covenant who, acting through the ministry of the priests, offers the Eucharistic sacrifice. And it is the same Christ, really present under the species of bread and wine, who is the offering of the Eucharistic sacrifice. (CCC 1409-1410)

In simple terms, the Eucharist is a great gift, a source of powerful grace given to us by God – food for the journey throughout our lives. Today's reading from the Gospel of Mark recounts the institution of the sacrament by Jesus himself at the Last Supper. In the words of institution, Christ empowered his disciples in the bloodless sacrifice offered anew at each celebration of the Sacred Liturgy.

The Eucharist, the Precious Body and Blood of the Lord, is a memorial, a sacrifice and a meal. We are nourished by Christ who is present to us in Word and in the form of Bread and Wine. When we share in His Body and Blood at Communion, we become one with him – individually and as members of the faith community: the Church, the body of Christ.

Let us rededicate ourselves to the Eucharist, to pray and meditate upon Christ as we gather at Mass or at Eucharistic Adoration. It is a source of grace, providing us with the strength to withstand temptation and evil and to proclaim the Gospel throughout the world.
