Spirituality of the Readings-John Foley, SJ

Reading I: Malachi 1:14b-2:2b, 8-10

Responsorial Psalm: 131:1, 2, 3

Reading II: 1 Thessalonians 2:7b-9, 13

Gospel: Matthew 23:1-12

Humble Contradictions

Jesus faces us with a highly controversial statement this Sunday. And then he makes a remark which seems completely contradictory. But it all boils down to humility.

Do I have your attention?

First the controversy. "Call no one on earth your father. You have but one Father in heaven" (Gospel). What can this mean? In another chapter, Matthew 6:9, he teaches us to say precisely "Our Father, who art in heaven...": Are we now supposed to cease using this very name that Jesus taught us? It is the way we address our dad (or, less formally, daddy, pa, pop, papa, and in Ireland, da, etc.). Also, the normal address for a priest is "Father." Some take scandal at using this title because of the present Gospel passage. Let's look at it.

"You have but one Father in heaven." This is profoundly accurate. Next to God's beautiful, tender parental love (Second Reading), you and I, as father or mother or priest, are just pale imitations. Who do we think we are?

But there is another meaning. Suppose we are not meant to compete with God's love but to share it and be vessels from which it is poured. Could we not be called "father" just because we humbly accept the outflow of God's own fatherhood and motherhood, which he wants to share with us? In this understanding, it all depends on our attitude.

Why didn't Jesus just say it this way? Well, maybe he was using what we in English have called hyperbole*, or exaggeration. As a speaker he had to use not only a very loud voice but also strong emphasis, in order to reach the "crowds and ... his disciples" to whom he was preaching.

Second, the contradiction. Jesus says, "Whoever exalts himself will be humbled; but whoever humbles himself will be exalted." (Matthew 23:12). What kind of sense does this make? If I humble myself, I should end up being humble, not exalted. If I exalt myself the result would seem to be, quite simply, that I am exalted and not humble. Our Gospel reverses this logic and presents instead an enigma.

Agreed. But again there is a way to understand. Suppose you have a water-glass that you fill with concrete, and let it harden. Are you now able to pour water into it? Certainly not. Same thing for your soul. If it is filled already, then not much else can go in. Maybe you do perform all your works in order to be seen. Maybe you do want the places of honor. Maybe you are very fond of being greeted in "the marketplace." These are not such bad or evil desires, but, like the concrete, they can harden into a way of life that has no room left for the cooling spring-water of God's presence.

But if we humble ourselves instead, refusing to build our life out of honor and praise, then there is room. God can "exalt" us by entering humbly into our deepest soul.

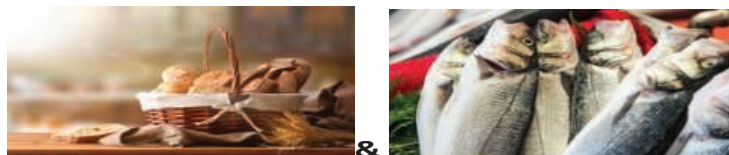

What am I talking about? Look at Sunday's Responsorial Psalm. It is only three lines long but its mild words describe what it is like to be "exalted" by God. We become "like a weaned child on its mother's lap." Why not open your bible and take time with this beautiful psalm.

The answer to the puzzle we started with and the contradiction? That riches, honor and pride fill up our souls. Weaned humility lets us be where we belong: open to receive.

John Foley, SJ

2023 Annual Loaves and Fishes

THANK YOU Incarnation St. James AND Our Lady of Good Council

The Loaves and Fishes Committee would like to thank all those who volunteered in any way to make this year's event so successful. Over 150 guests were fed a hot meatball sandwich served with potato salad and chips, with a slice of sheet cake for dessert. Prior to the meal donuts, bagels and muffins were served along with coffee, tea, and other drinks. Many thanks to the students from Princeton University, STEM Civics, and the many parishioners from ISJ and OLG for their time and generosity. All of this could not have been achieved without the donations received over the last several weeks totaling over $4,000 from our parishioners.

It was extremely rewarding to hear so many positive comments from the Loaves and Fishes staff about the energy and spirit brought to the Cathedral by our parishioners. The atmosphere was welcoming as guests intermingled with many volunteers throughout the morning. Hopefully, many of you will be motivated to join us in 2024 and become "Doers of the Word." The rewards are immeasurable.

Peter Brennan, Committee

Trunk or Treat THANKS!

Despite cloudy skies and even a few downpours, our first ever Trunk or Treat was a great success. More than 30 children in fabulous costumes enjoyed an afternoon of fun and games. 17 parishioners elaborately decorated their cars and filled their trunks with candy and other goodies for the children.

I would like to thank the OLGCC Parish Council Youth Ministry for their hard work on this event. A special thanks to Darren Christensen, Brian Stankus and the Knights of Columbus for assisting with traffic and parking lot logistics and to Brayden Spina, one of our Confirmation students, for helping with set-up and coordinating games.

Fr. Ariel

NATIONAL VOCATION AWARENESS WEEK

VOCATION PRAYER

Lord Jesus, Son of the Eternal Father and Mary Immaculate, give to our young people the generosity necessary to follow Your call and the courage required to overcome all obstacles to their vocation. Give to parents that faith, love and spirit of sacrifice which will inspire them to offer their children to God's service and to rejoice whenever one of their children is called to the priesthood or religious life. May Your example and that of Your Blessed Mother and Saint Joseph encourage both young people and parents and let Your grace sustain them. Amen.

PRAYER FOR SOULS IN PURGATORY

Eternal Father,

I offer Thee the most precious blood of Thy Divine Son, Jesus, in union with the Masses said throughout the world today, for all the Holy Souls in purgatory, for sinners everywhere, for sinners in the universal Church, those in my own home and within my family. Amen.

Help Ukrainian orphans have a voice. It only takes less than 20 seconds.

Act now to help hundreds of Ukrainian children and teens! These kids are orphans who are living in deteriorating and even dangerous conditions throughout Europe. Every day, some face neglect, bullying, physical abuse, and corporal punishment. Some do not receive regular or nutritious meals. Others are denied medical treatments and medicine. There is a lack of supervision, little education, and boredom compounds isolation. Most of these orphans have experienced complex trauma, learning delays, and many have disabilities. 300 of these children and teens have connections with American families who love them and would like to care for them until the war ends. 300 orphans have a better option, but bureaucracy stands in the way. Please sign the online petition to ask US President Joseph Biden and Ukraine President Volodymyr Zelenskyy to work together to allow these orphans to come to the US to the families who are waiting for them. This petition shows the support of Americans to bring the children home and it's time to listen to the will of the people!
